ERSKINE CHILDERS EXECUTED BY IRISH STATE

FIVE CHARGED WITH DRY ACT VIOLATION HERE

Federal Prohibition Agents Arraign Several Local Men Before United States Commissioner

ANTON JACOBSON DEMANDS HEARING BEFORE HARRISON

He and Four Others Give Bonds for their Appearance in Court

FIVE men charged with violations of the Volstead act were arraigned before United States Commissioner Alfred Harrison within a period of 24 hours, following raids conducted by federal prohibition agents. All of the defendants gave bond for their appearance in court when their cases are called and one entered a plea of not guilty and demanded hearing before Commissioner Harrison.

Rudolph Huber, St. Joseph Ridge saloonkeeper, was charged with possession of 27 cases of home brew and with the sale of a pint of moonshine at the Vienna bar. He waived examination and gave bond for $500.

Bernard Liebing, bartender at the Eagle hotel, charged with selling a half pint of alcoholic liquor, waived examination and furnished a bond of $1,000.

Naft Abraham, charged with selling moonshine, also waived examination and gave a bond for $1,000.

Anton Jacobson, South Front street saloonkeeper, charged with selling a half pint of moonshine, pleaded not guilty and asked for a hearing. He furnished cash bond of $1,000 for his appearance before Commissioner Harrison when the United States district attorney calls the hearing.

O. Korstad, North Fourth street saloonkeeper, who was arraigned Thursday afternoon on a charge of selling alcoholic liquor, waived examination and gave bond for $1,000.

MEANEST MAN IS THE ONE WHO STOLE HIS DEER SAYS BADGER

MEMPHIS, Mich. — Charles Bauer, former sheriff of Menominee county, believes that he has been the victim of the depredations of the "meanest man." Bauer had trapped the aids of northern Michigan for several days and finally was rewarded with a large buck for a prize which few hunters received this season. However, his prize was lost a few hours after he had taken the buck from the former sheriff's premises. This is the second time Bauer has had a deer stolen from him in three years.

FIRST DIVISION IN BRITISH COMMONS IS WON BY GOVERNMENT

LONDON. — By The Associated Press. — The first division in the new House of Commons which occurred Friday afternoon, was carried by the government by a majority of 102 against the opposition.

When Premier Ramsay MacDonald moved that the government be empowered to take all the time of the House for government business, during this session, the opposition opposed it. The premier's motion, however, was carried by a vote of 235 to 125.

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the business men and others in the city of La Crosse are making preparations to celebrate the coming Christmas season and contribute materially to the enjoyment of the usual holiday shopping period; and

Whereas, the city of La Crosse will share generally in the commendable community spirit that will be created by the united efforts of those now at work arranging for gorgeous and appropriate decorations on our public streets, the cordial reception to be extended to Santa Claus upon his arrival, the entertainment provided, the parade, and the unmatched display of handsome Christmas gifts, and many other details that will add to the comfort and pleasure of our citizens, during the busy days intervening between December 2nd and the 25th.

Now, I, Arthur A. Bentley, Mayor of the city of La Crosse, do hereby designate Saturday, December 2nd, Santa Claus Day, and do further direct, that all who possibly can—but especially all children—should be present at the Burlington depot on December 2nd to welcome Santa Claus to our beautiful city.

ARTHUR A. BENTLEY,
Mayor of the city of La Crosse.

Signed this 24th day of November, 1922, in the executive offices at the city hall in the city of La Crosse.

CITY'S ASSESSMENT OF BANK STOCK IS BEATEN IN COUNTY

County Board Votes to Accept Keizer's Assessment of 100 Percent of Book Value

M'WILLIE ASKS AID FOR FAIR BUILDING PROGRAM

Appropriations Made for Sanatorium and Agricultural School

THE assessment of 100 per cent on bank stock in La Crosse county, as decided upon by J. E. Keizer, assessor of incomes, in his annual report to the county board, will stand.

After a discussion that lasted through an afternoon session and part of another afternoon session the supervisors voted to adopt the minority report of the committee on assessments, which favored Mr. Keizer's report, thus killing the majority report of the committee that favored the 75 per cent assessment made by the La Crosse city board of review and which applied only to banks in the city.

Both reports were referred back to the assessment committee on the suggestion of Chairman Davis in an effort to obtain a unanimous report. For a time it seemed as though a compromise might be reached by assessing all banks in the county at 75 per cent of the book value of their stock. However, the two factions in the committee were unable to get together on a common ground and at the afternoon session Thursday Supervisor Kindley asked the board to table the minority report.

The vote on tabling the report was 16 ayes and 22 noes. The vote to adopt the minority report, which was the text now carried, 22 ayes and 16 noes.

The vote to table the minority report of the assessment committee was: Ayes—Ash, Baum, Berry, DeGard, Hildebrand, Johnson, Kahle, Kayler, Kindley, Knepper, Lapitz, Olsch, Schaeferberger, Schreiber, Verry, Zehn—16; noes—Dawson, Hagler, Fletcher, Guntter, Hutz, Hesseberg, V. S. Keppel, Kunders, Kuehn, Marle, Nottelman, Pettigill, Rahn, Rans, Schilling, Skogen, Staats, Stornahl, Wolter, Young, Chairman Davis—22.

The vote to adopt the minority report was the same, 16 ayes and 22 noes, those voting against the report the first time maintaining a solid front to the last, the same being true of the 22 who supported the minority report in both ballots.

This now makes it necessary for the city of La Crosse to spread the difference of $1,225 between the city and county assessments on bank stock over the general taxable property in the city in order to make up the deficit thus created.

L. W. MacWILLIE of the Interstate Fair association, appeared before the board Thursday afternoon to ask for any appropriation that the board saw fit to allow to assist the fair board in raising funds to defray the expense of new buildings at the fair grounds.

Mr. MacWILLIE explained the building program of the fair board and pointed out the various buildings that will be a necessity in the next year or two.

The board appropriated $15,000 to run the Oak Forest sanatorium for the coming year. The sanatorium trustees were authorized to rent sanatorium farm land to the county agricultural school for a term of years and at a rental to be determined by the trustees.

Repair Abattoir Road

Five hundred dollars were appropriated, provided the town of Campbell raises a similar amount, to repair the abattoir road, leading from the south Salem road to the north side.

The resolution was introduced by Supervisor Baum. Supervisor Dawson informed the board that the road was in a wretched state and that he also was told by H. Shreve, Commissioner, that next spring it is intended to divert traffic from the Salem road over the north side road. In that case, the

AMERICAN LEGION MUSICAL REVUE IS DECIDED SUCCESS

Big Show Goes Over for Success on Opening Night Thursday; Repeated Friday

BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES AND CHORUSES ARE FEATURES

Singing and Dancing Numbers Well Received

WHAT was termed by all to be one of the most beautifully dressed and elaborately staged home talent productions ever seen in the city of La Crosse had its initial appearance Thursday night at the La Crosse theater. The offering was the Frivol Revue, staged by the Gerber Producing company of Chicago, and put on under the auspices of the Roy L. Vingers post of the American Legion.

The show was divided into three parts, all of which featured the praises bestowed upon them during the rehearsals. The first part, a farce comedy, "In Bad," interspersed with musical numbers and dancing, was good, especially in the latter part, after the actors taking part had become warmed up to their work. In the whole production, not more than five or six of the characters had ever faced an audience across the footlights before, which makes their achievement all the more remarkable.

Beautiful Solos

Interspersed all through this number were beautiful solos, with the singers supported by beautifully gowned choruses. One of the outstanding features of the show was not only the gorgeousness of the costumes worn by the girls, but the beauty and grace of the young women themselves. "Hot Line," with Charles Heyerdahl singing the leading part, was the first big number in the program. The second chorus number, "Vamping Rose," sung by Joe Shields and chorus was one of the hits of the production. This offering was incomparable in the splendor of the costumes worn by the young ladies.

One of the most delightful bits of entertainment offered during the entire show was the dancing of Miss Maud Jarvis, premiere danseuse. Though Miss Jarvis has appeared before the public in this city many times, she is always welcomed eagerly, and her work has been varied and better with each successive appearance.

"San," sung by Miss Evelyn Myhre, was a decided hit. Miss Myhre possessed of a beautiful contralto voice, and her sympathetic rendition of her song won for her a big round of applause. The chorus in this number, and Miss Myhre, were attired in dazzling silk costumes which were in close harmony with the atmosphere of the song.

As an interlude, the Callaway Novelty orchestra entertained with three selections of syncopated harmony that brought down the house. The six youngsters of the orchestra have developed into jazz friends de luxe, and they apparently enjoy their playing as thoroughly as did the audience Thursday night.

The "Bamboo Babies," sung by Florence Parsons, and chorus, and "Knock, Knock, Knock," by Ruth Shiffer and chorus, both met with good receptions. The pony chorus in the latter number proved to be the best dancing set of the show. These little girls, none of them much more than fifteen or sixteen years old, went through a series of intricate stunts without hesitation or mistakes.

Myron Locke, perhaps as well known locally as minstrel man as anyone ever has been, entertained between two of the numbers with a comic monologue of his own composition, and with the song hit which added to the fame of the late Bert Williams, "Not Later."

"Passing Parade"

The height of splendor was reached in the "Passing Parade," the second part of the show, featuring the "Princess Ballet." The sketch was Oriental, with Dr. Harry Marshall, as the Mandarin, singing the leading male part, "Bobby" Olson, the Princess, sang opposite Dr. Marshall. They were assisted by the "Princess Ballet," a bevy of beautiful young dancers, "Chinese Girls," and "Advisors."

The best part of the show was on the minstrel order depicting a scene at the Terrace Garden county club. When the curtain rose on this scene, the audience spontaneously applauded the gorgeousness of the setting.

Several solos, supported by a huge chorus, featured the number. The first on the list was Walter Wagner, well known local songster who entertained with a song, "Wake Up Little Girl," which was particularly well suited to his voice. Max Posover was next with a negro melody, "New Orleans." He was assisted by eight "American Beauties."

A mixed quartet, singing "Call Me Back Pal of Mine," was next on the list.

TIGER OF FRANCE HITS BACK AT SENATE CRITICS; DARES HITCHCOCK TO GO TO FRANCE

BOSTON, Mass.—By The Associated Press.—The Tiger of France lashed back at his senate critics Friday in his first American interview, granted to the Associated Press, replying particularly to the criticisms of Senators Hitchcock and Borah.

"Senator Hitchcock calls me a militarist," Clemenceau said. "Well, I am glad to tell Mr. Hitchcock he is in the senate, owing to the vote, for only a few more days. When he is free, I dare him to go to France and learn the facts."

Answering Senator Hitchcock's demand that he explain why France insisted on using black troops in her army of occupation, the Tiger declared that Hitchcock had been misled by German propaganda and that today there was not a single black soldier in German territory.

Defends Treaty Stand

To Senator Borah's recent assertion that Clemenceau was primarily responsible for conditions in Europe because of his great influence in the drafting of the Versailles treaty, the aged statesman declared his situation was "particularly distressing" since in France he had been most bitterly criticised "for having asked from the Germans less than I ought to."

When he was told that some of the senators at Washington had said they were not able to understand clearly from his speeches just what he wanted in America, the Tiger said with a gleam in his eyes, that he thought they would know after his address this afternoon in Tremont temple.

Clemenceau received his interviewers in his room at the home of F. L. Higginson, Jr., where he is staying while in this city. He wore his usual gray cutaway suit and his gray skull cap was perched on his bald head. Seating himself in an easy chair, he said: "Now, put any questions you like and I will answer them."

The interviewers went at once to the subject of the Washington criticisms. Clemenceau smiled and shrugged. "I had made it a point not to discuss official people in America," he said. "But I have said I will answer all, so I must answer."

"I am glad to tell Mr. Hitchcock he is in the senate only for a few days owing to the vote," he began, referring to the Nebraska's recent defeat for re-election. "Therefore, I think I'll be excused if I dare him to go to Europe and if he finds anyone in my country or elsewhere who says I have been a militarist then I'll own it."

Owens to Militarism

"I have suffered much from 1871 to 1917 for not being a militarist. I turned militarist when the war broke out—before, I had been a militarist to the extent of extending the length of military service in France."

"But that was not too bad. If it allowed us to oppose the German

GOVERNMENT STARTS SUIT TO RECOVER ON CANTONMENT FRAUDS

Twenty Million Dollars Alleged to Have Been Fraudulently Obtained by Contractors

ACTION IS BROUGHT AGAINST BUILDERS OF FOUR CAMPS

Fraud Charged at Upton, Jackson, Sherman and Funston

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By The Associated Press.—Legal action to recover more than twenty million dollars alleged to have been obtained fraudulently from the government in the construction of four army cantonments during the war, was instituted Friday by Attorney General Daugherty, as the first formal step in a far-reaching prosecution of those who had been charged with the building of war camps.

The four suits begun Friday were filed simultaneously in United States district courts in four states and involve charges of fraud in the construction of Camp Upton, Camp Jackson, South Carolina; Camp Sherman, Ohio; and Camp Funston, Kansas. Other civil actions and possibly criminal prosecutions are to follow, it was said at the department of justice involving a total of more than $7,500,000 and reaching into virtually every part of the country.

In each of the four cases the suit is filed against the "prime contractor" responsible for construction of the camp. The four defendant concerns and the amount the government seeks to recover from each are the Thompson-Starrett company, builders of Camp Upton, $6,000,000; the Hardaway Contracting company, builders of Camp Jackson, $6,500,000; A. Bentley & Sons, builders of Camp Sherman, $5,000,000, and the George A. Fuller company, builders of Camp Funston, $1,000,000.

The Camp Upton suit was filed at the attorney general's direction at Brooklyn, N. Y., the Camp Jackson suit at Columbia, S. C., the Camp Sherman suit at Columbus, Ohio, and the Camp Funston suit at Topeka, Kan.

It was indicated that similar actions would be brought at these places later against minor contracting firms who helped in the construction of the four camps, and that should any criminal action be sought, the evidence would be placed before the special war fraud grand jury now in session in District of Columbia.

FIGHT FOR LIFE TURNS AGAINST DE VALERA AIDE

Plea of Attorneys for Stay of Execution is Denied Thursday by Master of the Rolls

CHILDERS TRIED FOR UNLAWFUL POSSESSION OF A REVOLVER

Announcement of Execution Comes as a Surprise to London

DUBLIN.—By The Associated Press.—Erskine Childers, chief lieutenant of Eamon De Valera, was executed here Friday.

He was executed at seven o'clock Friday morning, for having had an automatic pistol in his possession, it is announced in an official bulletin given out by the national army.

The brief army report states that Childers was tried by a military court at Portobello barracks, Dublin, November 17, charged with being in possession, without proper authority, of an automatic pistol when apprehended by national forces November 10 at Annamore house, County Wicklow. The accused, the report adds, was found guilty and sentenced to death and the finding and sentence being duly confirmed the execution was carried out Friday morning.

While the method of execution was not officially described, it is believed it was by shooting.

Court Denies Plea

The fate of Childers has been hanging in the balance for several days while court actions were being fought out over his military trial, but with the adverse finding by the master of the rolls Thursday on application for a stay of judgment the feeling that seemed to prevail in Dublin Thursday evening was that the next thing heard of Childers would be news of his execution.

This belief is thought likely to have inspired heavy attacks which were made on nationalist army posts in Dublin throughout the night.

Has Short Notice

Notification that he was to be executed this morning was not received by Childers until 8 o'clock Thursday night, according to the evening Standard. His relatives were not allowed to see him and the first intimation that they had of the carrying out of the sentence was at noon today when they received a letter to that effect from the adjutant general.

Childers was educated at Trinity college, Cambridge. He served in the metropolitan police as a lieutenant commander of the royal navy volunteer reserve between January and May, 1916, and won the distinguished service cross for his service with the anti-submarine forces.

Childers, as a lieutenant commander in the Irish republican army, was one of the right-hand men of Eamon De Valera, and was placed on trial before a military tribunal in Dublin on November 17 on the charge that he had a pistol in his possession when arrested at Wicklow by Free State forces on November 10. The trial lasted two days. Childers, who was 52 years old, appealed through counsel for a writ of habeas corpus which was denied by the master of the rolls.

Childers was captured on November 10 at the home of a relative, Robert Barton, situated in a wooded and picturesque section of Wicklow. Childers was found in an upstairs bedroom. He attempted to draw a pistol but was overpowered. He was taken to Wicklow jail and later brought to Portobello Barracks, Dublin.

London Surprised

LONDON.—Announcement of the execution in Dublin of Erskine Childers, leading lieutenant of Eamon De Valera, was received here shortly after noon Friday. It came as a surprise to England where it was believed, the free state authorities would hesitate to impose this penalty.

The execution removes the most important figure in the republican movement in Ireland next to De Valera, with whom Childers, a man of strong personality, is generally credited here with having had strong influence.

To Childers is ascribed perhaps the leading part in engineering the present armed revolt against the free state, and he was known as the military strategist who planned the operations. It was to Childers that Winston Churchill, former colonial secretary, recently referred in a speech as "that mischievous, murderous renegade, that Englishman who is inspiring by an equal measure of hatred both for this island and for the one in which he now has taken up his abode."

FIGHT CROKER WILL

DUBLIN.—By The Associated Press.—Attorneys for Richard Croker, Jr., Friday initiated in the probate court here a suit to have condemned the alleged last will of Richard Croker, Sr., dated October 12, 1919, under which Mrs. Julia Edmondson Croker, widow of the late Tammany chieftain, claims to be his sole legatee.

HUMANE SOCIETY NOW HAS UPWARDS OF 500 CHAPTERS

Association Shows Remarkable Growth Since Organization in 1877

CHICAGO. — Since the first meeting of the American Humane Society in Cleveland, October 9, 1877, the organization has grown until there are more than 500 active anti-cruelty societies in the United States, according to a report issued here by officials of the organization.

"At the time this association was organized child protection work was yet in its infancy and the movement in behalf of the protection of animals had only recently started," the report stated.

"The interval from the beginning until now has been occupied by intense activities and development on the part of the humane movement.
It is easy now to gauge the practical advancement of the humane cause."

"From the zero point our work has grown until there are more than 500 active anti-cruelty societies in the United States. The annual income of our societies has increased to over a million dollars. There is an army of paid employees and voluntary agents.
Many of our societies own buildings, the aggregate value of which was into millions of dollars. Endowments amount to over four million dollars."

"Aggressive warfare has been carried on to protect the rights of children and to give them ample opportunity to be fitted for the path of life. The interest in animal protection also has greatly increased."

SCHOOLS OF BADGER STATE TO AID IN PROMOTION OF AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

MADISON, Wis. — The schools of Wisconsin plan to aid in the promotion of American Education Week, December 3 to 9, during which school problems of the nation will be emphasized before the public. John Callahan, superintendent of public instruction, announced Friday, The U. S. Bureau of Education, the American Legion and the National Education Association are cooperating to further the project throughout the country.

In a letter today, to all city and county superintendents of schools, Mr. Callahan asks that these local directors of education use their influence to make the week a success in all communities of Wisconsin.

American education week commences Sunday, December 3, with the slogan for this day, 'For God and Country.' Using this theme as the subject for sermons, all ministers in the churches of the state are urged to preach on education Sunday morning. It is also asked that communities hold mass-meetings at which speakers may stress educational needs.

Monday is set aside as American citizenship day, with stress to be laid on naturalization of all foreigners, means of educating aliens for citizenship, and the need for general understanding of the duties of citizenship.

"Patriotism Day" is set for Tuesday, December 5. At that time the meaning of the flag is to be taught, the universal use of the English language in this country urged and the duty of citizens to vote, stressed.

On school and teacher day, Wednesday, the necessity for schools will be told. Discussion centering on the importance of teachers and the schools' influence on the coming generation, will make up the greater part of the day's program. Necessity for better trained teachers, for better pay for teachers with more adequate buildings in which to carry on classes, will be stressed.

A campaign for the stamping out of illiteracy by 1927 is to be commenced on illiteracy day, Thursday. It will be urged that immigration be stopped until illiteracy among natives and foreign born is removed. The seriousness of the illiteracy problem will be emphasized.

Equality of opportunity will be stressed on Friday, with the necessity for education for every American boy and girl. Special emphasis is to be laid on the need for improving rural education facilities in order that children in the country may have a more equal opportunity for schooling.

The last day of the week will be physical education day on which the country's need in conservation and the development of forests, roads and other resources is to be stressed. Playgrounds for children will be urged and all forms of athletics given a boost.

Observance of this program of the days of the week suggested is expected.

BOY HUNTER WOUNDED

MERRILL, Wis. — Harvey Emrich, son of John Emrich, is in a critical condition at the Ravan hospital following the accidental discharge of a shotgun which he was holding while standing on a stump in the new wood territory where he was hunting deer. The buckshot entered his left forearm, his left chest from near the heart to the clavicle, the left side of his head, his cheek and left ear. The arm bled so profusely that a rope had to be tied around the arm to stop the blood. His left lung was pierced with one of the shot. He has been two weeks for an X-ray examination.

Emrich is a nephew of J. A. Emrich, prominent manufacturer here.

SWEDISH PRINCESS WEDS

COPENHAGEN. — By The Associated Press. — The marriage of Princess Dagmar, youngest sister of King Christian, to Count Joergen Castenskjold, was celebrated Thursday, in conformance with the wishes of the queen the marriage was strictly private. At her own request the bride will be styled Mrs. Castenskjold, retaining the title of princess only in the event of widowhood or divorce.

A Farmers' Subsidy

OPPOSERS of President Harding's ship subsidy policy may like him better for the fighting mood in which he met their opposition to the measure. Progressives in the main are themselves of the fighting type, and prefer a battling opponent to a "trimmer." He may not have convinced them, but probably he has won their respect.

Midwestern opposition to the ship subsidy is based upon the feeling that it is a special privilege from which certain individuals profit, and a special benefit to the coast states in whose prosperity the middle section of the United States would not participate.

In the past we have always opposed a ship subsidy, largely for the perhaps selfish reason that we could not, under conditions then prevailing, see a commensurate return to midwestern states. However, the situation has been materially altered, and we have come to that time when we have always foreseen in which the welfare of the entire nation must depend upon an adequate merchant marine.

And it is the western farmer, traditional foe to the ship subsidy idea, whose prosperity we have in mind. The ship subsidy is not a subsidy to ship owners alone. It is a subsidy to the farming industry. Never will the farmer attain ample revenue from his operations until America possesses an adequate cargo carrying fleet. We speak optimistically of a "bumper crop," but how can we encourage that large farm production, which on the average our needs require, when we face the absurdity that under present conditions a "bumper crop" is actually a damage to the farmer?

The reason is plainly to be seen. A surplus of only 5 or 10 per cent above what available markets will absorb permits supply to exceed demand, with the consequences that farm prices slump and hard times hit the farmer. At this very moment our farmers suffer staggering loss from this cause. To remedy it we must either have access to new markets, or we must repress production—the latter a dangerous policy.

We have here a special problem. The La Follette Seaman's act provides for American sailors conditions and pay, higher in standard than are those enjoyed by sailors of competing countries. Unless we make up to ship owners the difference in cost of operation, we can have no shipping industry. Either that, or repeal the Seaman's act, which to the American mind is unthinkable. And we can make it up only in the manner in which we have made up differences based upon the American standard of living in other countries, notably by the tariff, which up to the point of "the difference of cost of manufacturing at home and abroad" is a workman's measure.

The opponents of the ship subsidy are fathers of the idea of the tariff that will make up "the differences in cost of production between the American and the foreign manufacturer." Why do not they, instead of offering a blanket proposition, adopt the policy of a ship subsidy to make up the difference in cost of shipping at home and abroad?

It is said by some opponents of the ship subsidy that since foreign nations can ship cheaper than we, America should let them control the shipping business. Were we to adopt this idea we would also have to say that since foreign countries can manufacture more cheaply than we, America should allow foreign countries to monopolize the manufacturing business.

But this is not the only objection to surrendering world shipping to competitive nations. Let us make England an example. England competes with us in foreign trade. England is a great producing nation. If we depend upon English ships, those ships will carry our commerce only after Great Britain's commerce has been marketed and world's markets flooded, to our exclusion. This is true of any other nation and of all nations.

No doubt Americans, as a whole, are not in a frame of mind to approve a ship subsidy bill which includes Standard Oil Tankers, nor is there much sentiment in the country for subsidizing passenger vessels. But a cargo-carrying fleet is essential to this country. We need only scan history for examples. Nowhere does it disclose a strong maritime nation whose internal prosperity was not substantial and continuous during its maritime ascendancy.

We now possess, as a bequest of war, the foundation for such a fleet. In the matter of figures, friends of the subsidy seem to have proven a clear case. The operation of that fleet under the shipping board, is costing us approximately double the amount we would spend by way of subsidy upon the present basis. We can't go on in this disastrous business, not only because of the burden of cost with little results, but because it will destroy rather than build up a permanent merchant marine. Foes of the bill cannot make their case by merely opposing the present proposal. They must meet it with a better one. If they are statesmen, they will not oppose it for mere politics, letting it pass with their objection in order to store up campaign material. They must be constructive and do something for the country that will relieve it from this emergency.

In this matter we speak for the Wisconsin farmer. Soon, despite current disappointments, the St. Lawrence shipway will connect the Atlantic ocean with the Great Lakes on our eastern border. To the west the Mississippi will have been opened to the gulf for seagoing traffic. We will then be able to load our farm products on cargo boats at Green Bay, Milwaukee and La Crosse for direct shipments to London and Hong Kong. This should bring home to the Wisconsin farmer in a new sense our dependence upon shipping. For as long as a Wisconsin farmer has a surplus of ten bushels of potatoes over what he can use or sell, he will have to sell his entire crop at an unjustly modest figure. The logic is inescapable. Whenever markets fail to absorb the product, the product is cheaper. If we have ways of getting to them the markets of the world will absorb everything that the Wisconsin farmer raises. The farmer who values his own prosperity must not permit himself to be misled by popular political slogans. This is a business proposition. It is as foolish for a farmer to vote against a plan to create a merchant marine, as a means of transporting his produce to foreign markets, as it would be for him to vote against highways and vehicles with which he carries his produce to his local market.

Love's Radio

BY CLARISSA MACKIE

"That makes fifteen," said Henry Blake, as he tore up another half-written letter and dropped the fragments into the waste basket. "I'll write one more and if it doesn't pull through—I'll quit. But there's a jinx on my asking Adele to share my ranch and ration!"

If you had asked Henry Blake why he didn't walk right up to Adele and put the question to her pointblank, he would have told you solemnly that every time he looked into Adele's blue eyes he simply forgot everything he ever knew. "Completely razzled," he would add grimly.

Now he was writing his sixteenth letter. His fountain pen labored stammeringly over the task, just as Henry's thoughts stuttered in hurried confusion.

"Dearest Adele—" "Adele darling!"—pshaw! "Dearest!" With a reading of paper the sixteenth letter followed its fellows. Henry glared at it maliciously. Then, overcome with a sudden fear that the inquisitive cook, Ah Sing, might discover and heard these scraps of paper, so that he might pursue his slow study of the "Melican langwid," Henry scratched the fragments out of the basket and stuffed them into his pockets, to burn at the first available opportunity. Scrawling the top on to his fountain pen, he went out into the late afternoon sunshine, determined to find some other way to tell his love to Adele before one of his rivals rode boldly away with the prettiest and most desirable girl in the county.

"Hearty!" crowed Henry, and he rushed to the telephone. The Barton ranch, five miles away, was only one of six on that party line, and as Adele's voice came singing over the wire Henry heard four subdued clicks as the other subscribers listened in.

"Hello," sang Adele. "That you, Henry?"

"Yes," said Henry, hot with embarrassment. "I wanted to talk to you about something."

"Oh, yes?" invited Adele.

"I wanted to talk to you, only I can't because of this confounded bunch of radio friends listening in—three have hung up, Adele—guess the other one is bound to hear—must be Mrs. Barton—think you mean," as the fourth receiver clicked.

"Oh, Henry—you are too dreadful!" laughed Adele. "Let the poor things listen in if they want to! Suppose you lived on a ranch miles from everybody?"

"I do," yelled Henry.

"Of course—and what were you going to ask me, Henry?" she inquired sweetly. (Henry could not see her tender smile, nor could he even dream that she sent him a silent kiss into the mouthpiece.)

"Ask you—why, Adele, I just wanted to know if you wouldn't like to ride over to Red Butte and meet me at the waterfall. I'll bring over some roasting ears and we can have a little fire and see the sunset."

"Lovely!" cried Adele. "I will make some sandwiches now. Suppose I start at 5 o'clock, and we will meet at the trail crossing. So long!"

Henry hung up the receiver with a baffled look in his eyes. "Give up," he muttered grimly, as he went to the corral to get his horse. "I expect some honest-to-goodness man, with a real spine, instead of a weak-kneed, jolly fish, either like yours truly, will ride in and ask her point blank and marry her right before my eyes. Servus me right, too!"

He bent his head to the black horse, who nuzzled his comforted face lovingly.

At six came out with the roasting ears and coffee pot in a sack, which he deftly fastened to Blake's saddle.

"So long!" said Henry, as he rode away.

"Silence—good luck!" called the Chinese affably.

Henry blushed as he rode out of the gate. He stared straight ahead when he passed the Fancher place, for Mrs. Fancher was sitting on the stoop of the distant ranch house. There wasn't any use in getting mad at folks, he told himself. They were kindhearted neighbors, and friends, and would do anything in the world to help each other. He didn't stop at a good size buck.

ward Adele. They skimmed across the grass and fluttered about her little brown boots.

Henry muttered under his breath as he dropped the remainder of the papers on the fire and despairingly saw a trail of them fly over to Adele.

"What are you trying to do, Henry?" she asked over her shoulder. "Just burning up some letters. The wind's acting up like the—very dickens—here, I'll pick them up!" He sprang forward to rescue the pieces of his love letters, but Adele had caught her own name, and her little brown fingers were nimble. She clutched them tightly to her breast.

"The corn is ready, Henry," she said coolly, though her eyes were like stars.

"The corn? All right," he said sullenly and walked away to the fire. He went about the preparations doggedly, not daring to look at Adele, who sat apart, staring at the glowing face of Red Butte bathed in the sunset glory.

"Supper's ready," he said in an unnatural voice.

"Come here," said Adele. He obeyed, his face pale with suppressed emotion. "Henry Blake," said Adele, lifting her dazzling eyes to his. "I want the rest of those letters!"

"In the fire—ashes—burned up," said Henry curtly.

"They are mine—I saw my name—you had written them to me—you had no right to tear them up."

"You wouldn't have wanted them."

"I read enough—I saw the scraps—they came flying to me in spite of you—and, Henry, I'll forgive you, on one condition."

"What is that?"

"I want you to tell me the rest—what you didn't say—," she faltered, and so Henry found his voice at last and told her of his love. Adele said she had known it all along, for he had already told it with his eyes. (Copyright, 1922, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

TURKS WANT GREEK PATRIARCH REMOVED FROM HOLY CITY

LAUSANNE.—By The Associated Press.—When Constantinople is fully restored to Turkey the new Ottoman government will ask the Greeks to remove the leader of the Greek orthodox church to some other land, a member of the Turkish peace delegation told the Associated Press Friday.

"Constantinople is our sacred city," he said, "and there seems to be no reason why the patriarch of the Greek Christian church should have his seat in the center of Islam, where the caliph of all the muslims will have his throne."

RESCUE LOST HUNTER

ASHLAND, Wis.—Iver Erickson of Grand View was rescued Thursday by a party of searchers after he had been lost in the Big Elson swamp for over forty-eight hours. Both hands and feet were badly frozen when he was found, and he was suffering much from exposure. Erickson became lost when he went out Tuesday with a party of hunters to look for game.

Though he was located the following day, it was not until Thursday that members of the searching party succeeded in penetrating the swamp. Due to prompt medical aid which was given him, it is believed that both hands and feet can be saved.

"How we are, Henry—don't the sky look wonderful—you make the fire and I'll fix the corn." They hobbled the horses and Henry set about making a small fire on an old campfire site—a circle of stones, set in a shallow hole scooped out of the earth. Watching the blazing fire, Henry thought of the torn letters in his pocket. Here was an opportunity to burn them up, while Adele worked demurely over the corn. It was one of life's little ironies, he thought, that he must burn in her presence those suffering letters that were addressed to her, and which he was too shy to finish.

For her looked out of his eyes and filtered through his most casual words when he addressed her.

He dropped a double handful of the torn paper on the fire. A mischievous breeze whirled a few of them to-

PREDICT HEAVY CUT OF TIMBER IN NORTH WOODS THIS SEASON

BIRCHWOOD, Wis.—Woodsmen are numerous this year, judging from the fact that hundreds of men are passing through here each day to the camps in Sawyer and Price counties. Indications are that one of the greatest timber cuts in years will be made this winter. Some companies will have tremendous supplies of railway ties, excelsior bolts, cordwood, fence posts, telegraph poles and pulpwood.

SPENS TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON.—Conrad S. Spens, federal fuel distributor, is expected to give up his government duties shortly. He took the post with the understanding that he would be relieved November 22 to resume activities as a vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, but since that date has passed, it is believed, Mr. Spens will continue in Washington until about December 15. He is expected to confer with President Harding before the end of the week relative to his retirement and the suspension of fuel control activities.

GETTLE SUCCEEDS JACKSON AS HEAD OF RATE BOARD

MADISON, Wis.—L. E. Gettle, member of the Wisconsin railroad commission, was elected chairman of that body Friday at a special commission meeting. He succeeds Carl Jackson, who was reported to have resigned last year, but who has been acting as chairman up to the present time.

Mr. Gettle was appointed to the commission by Governor Blaine in February, 1921, to succeed John H. Allen, an appointee of former Governor Philipp.

Persistent reports that Mr. Jackson intends to resign from the rail commission, bring denials from him. His term runs until February 1, 1923.

WOMEN OF MICHIGAN AND OHIO TO PRESS EQUAL RIGHTS BILL

Wisconsin Only State to Have Passed Law Fostering by Women's Party

CHICAGO, Ill.—The National Woman's party is focusing particular attention on Michigan and Ohio, and agitation is under way in both states for the passage of an equal rights law. Thus far the only state to pass the equal rights law fostered by the woman's party is Wisconsin. The proposed law provides that women shall enjoy all rights, privileges and immunities possessed by men.

Mrs. Nelson Whittemore of Detroit, Mich., quotes Senator Townsend of Michigan as saying to her the day the woman's party formally introduced its equal rights program in Michigan, "I stand for equality of men and women." The senator promised his support to the women according to Mr. Whittemore. On the other hand, leaders of the party in Ohio say they are encouraged by the fact that Ohio was the third state to ratify the suffrage amendment.

The report of the party on the two states declared that "in Ohio men are paramount and there are few states where women occupies a more degraded place in respect to rights under the law." It also asserted, "Even today it is true in Michigan that married women in this state have no general capacity to make contracts."

The report, which was prepared by women lawyers, said that in Ohio, "The husband as head of the home owns the services of his wife and children of his children. The husband is entitled to damages when the wife is injured through the negligence of a third person, just as he is entitled to damages for injury to his other property." A court decision said, if the wife for any reason was unable to perform her services, the loss was the husband's, not hers. On the other hand, the Ohio supreme court has ruled that a wife has no property interest in her husband's services, Ohio is one of the seven states which still consider the father the natural guardian of the children and entitled to their custody and control to their service and earnings.

"One of the strange ironies of the Michigan law," said the investigators, "with regard to contract is shown in the fact that a married woman is held responsible by the courts if she goes to the store and buys supplies for her family and charges them in her name. She and not her husband may be required to pay for them. The theory that a wife is not allowed to contract for her own protection thus falls down completely, when she may contract and is bound by it if she is buying necessities for her family in her own name."

"The theory that a wife who aids her husband in committing a crime is presumed to be acting under his coercion and is therefore not guilty," is, with certain restrictions, still in force in Michigan. In two cases in 1921, where wives had operated guile in their homes, the husbands, not their wives, were convicted of violating the law.

"In Michigan a boy is not capable of marrying until he is eighteen, but in the case of a girl, the legal age is sixteen. Since minority is meant as a protection to young people, the law should extend this protection to girls at least as long as to boys."

"Be sure your sin will find you out. An Atlanta family had a parrot that looked sick, and then sent it downstairs to be treated in the servants' quarters. The parrot remained downstairs several weeks. Then it was brought back, cured, to the drawing room."

"But always, after that sojourn downstairs, the parrot could never hear a bell without exclaiming crossly:
"Oh, let the devils ring again!"

LAST OF "LIGHT BRIGADE"

ELLIS CUTTING, SURVIVOR OF GALLANT SIX HUNDRED

CEPHEUS RAPIDS, Iowa.—Ellis Cutting, sole survivor of the famous "charge of the Light Brigade," rode unscathed through that gallant but futile action—to be hurt by a snow plow near here.

Today, 68 years after the immortal execution of blundered orders, Cutting, 84, is alive and alert. He recalls as though it was yesterday the charge at Balaklava, in which he participated as a youth of 17, the charge Tennyson's poem immortalized.

With the Crimean war in progress Britain and France allied with Turkey against Russia. The Russians attacked the allies at Balaklava October 25, 1854, hoping to cut allied communications.

The "Heavy Brigade" commanded by Lord Cardigan, then received orders to charge these cannon and prevent their removal. For cavalry, mounted and armed with lances and sabers, to charge cannon was plainly suicidal. Lord Cardigan read the order, questioned the aide delivering it, the latter, Captain Nolan, waved his arm down the valley toward the Russian cannon.

"Forward, the Light Brigade!" commanded Lord Baglan. Lances fixed, the 600 troopers galloped forward, guiding flying sabers flanking. Beyond the allied lines, Russian artillery fired point blank from three sides into the gallant horsemen. Captain Nolan, bearer of the note to charge, suddenly dashed across the front of the chargers, possibly to swerve the troops from the death trap. A shell made him the first to fall.

Straight at the enemy guns out in front rode Cardigan's command. The numbers dwindled rapidly as converging cannon fire swept them.

The guns were reached, silenced. Small parties even attacked the cavalry behind. But a battle against such overwhelming odds could only end in annihilation. Other cavalry arrived in time to hold the ground won by the Light Brigade.

Most historians say a third of the Light Brigade survived. Cutting, though, says only six came alive. Lord Cardigan was one of these.

"I can't describe it, it's beyond me," says Cutting. "We were swept through that hell of fire and death bearing nothing, knowing nothing, feeling nothing but a desire to reach the Russians."

"Everyone hoped to pick a man. All I thought was to get him first."

Active Today
"Instead of rushing to cavalry, Lord Baglan ought to have ordered an infantry maneuver. That would have saved hundreds of brave boys."

Cutting later served in the British army in Indian mutinies, in the Lucknow siege, in Egypt and in South Africa. The only wound he received was a bayonet thrust in one foot.

Coming to America, he became a freeman in what is now the Rock Island, was promoted to engineer six months later and served until pensioned in 1910.

Early years ago, he was thrown 60 feet by a rotary snow plow, and sustained several broken bones. Aside from that, he has never been hurt in his life.

"Foin Tim" Cutting, the railroaders call him all over the Rock Island system. He reads newspapers without glasses, and he walks two miles or more every time he goes downtown from his home.

ART OF BEGGING IS HIGHLY DEVELOPED IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Rescue Home for Child Beggars is Established by Near East Relief

CHICAGO, Ill.—The art of soliciting alms probably is more highly developed in Constantinople than anywhere else in the Near East, according to the Humane Review, publication of the American Humane society.

A small house on a narrow cobblestone street in the market district of Besiktas has been selected by the Near East Relief as a rescue home for juvenile Greek beggars of the city. They are gathered from the highways and byways under unspeakable conditions sometimes only after the allied police have been called to separate the children from their associates.

In this home 65 little girls are being cared for. Filthy, dirty, covered with vermin, undernourished and sometimes diseased, they behaved at first more like little animals than human beings.

They grubbed their food in handouts and choked it down fearing that some other children would snatch it away. Most of them didn't know what a bed was, preferring, from force of habit, to curl up on the floor and sleep.

Three months of American care proves that wonders can be accomplished in a wholesome, healthy environment. After being carefully

Steel Airplanes Lighter Than Wood
Great Britain has novelty in the nature of an airplane constructed entirely of steel except the canvas wings, and strange to say it is four per cent lighter than wood and is much superior to the plane of aluminum alloy which has been built in Germany. The latter is said to lack strength. It has two engines of 1,000 horsepower each and while it is meant for the service of a fast bomber, it is as easy to handle as a little fighting scout. The steel plane is easy to manufacture in quantity; is almost invulnerable and is capable of carrying a greater load.

The Mortgage an Ancient Institution

DEBATE WAXES HOT OVER MERITS OF SHIP SUBSIDY ACT

Widely Diverging Views on Measure Presented by Speakers for Both Sides

WASHINGTON.—Widely conflicting views as to the wisdom of enacting the administration shipping bill were presented to the house Friday by republican and democratic speakers.

Representative Lehman, N. J., a republican member of the merchant marine committee, which framed the bill, declared the country would not have a merchant marine unless the plan proposed in the pending bill was adopted.

TIGER OF FRANCE HITS BACK AT SENATE CRITICS

front until England and America appeared.

Asked to answer Hitchcock's question about black troops the Tiger said "Don't" and waded in.

No Black Troops on Rhine

"In the first place there are no black troops of occupation in the area of occupation of the enemy. In the second place, I have seen black American troops at the front and they stood the fire with bravery, too."

"Of course this has nothing to do with the question of whether we are militarists or not. It is an attempt to create propaganda to oppose France and America and obscure what is really the great question."

"The Germans and all of our foes had been killing enough of our white men and 100,000 black men fell gallantly fighting on the frontiers of liberty as Woodrow Wilson called them. We are not going to deny them a place in history."

"Now these black soldiers were always more or less occupying towns in France and always got along perfectly with the white French people. Even I should say their discipline is stricter than any white troops."

"So, I have seen papers of German propaganda which I suppose inspired Mr. Hitchcock's sayings and I can plainly say they are so many lies."

"The day before I left Paris I heard these stories would be employed to prove we were militaristic people. So I asked the official people to give me plain information."

"The answer was that there was only one established case of a Senegalese having mistreated a German woman. He was captured and sentenced by a military tribunal."

Whites Given Leave

"The reason black troops were sent into the occupation zone at first, Clemenceau said, was to provide a few months of home leave for the white troops. That had stood the fire four years until America could come and were rather exhausted."

"We couldn't foresee," he said, "that it would be more objectionable to the Germans than to the French in whose towns they had been garrisoned. When we learned it was they were withdrawn."

"The German objection was more of a surprise because they employed black troops and if they did not bring them to the front it was because no means of bringing them could be found. They did find means to invade Belgium and march into France."

Then the Tiger came to Senator Rorah's statement that he, Clemenceau, was responsible for most of Europe's woes because of the treaty of Versailles.

Declaring that the criticism was exactly opposite from that in his own country, where he was assailed for not demanding enough, he continued: "Let those who say I asked too much go to Europe—let them bring their German friends, and let us settle it where it can be seen."

"Moreover, if too much was asked at Versailles, which I do not believe, yet 75 per cent of it has been taken out without my assent and out of my power."

Ending the interview, Clemenceau declared his reception in America had been greater than he was entitled to expect.

"I was received as a friend, as a son," he said. "What happens in the end I never shall forget it."

Then he added: "But while expressing my deep gratitude to all, I dare say I'd like to have a little more plain assent to some of my arguments."

PAPER MILL REOPENS

ASHLAND, Wis.—The Ashland paper mill has resumed operations after a shut down of about five months. The owners expect to run the mill full force all winter and will possibly install new machinery to be used in the manufacture of different paper products. The paper mill is getting part of its pulp material from Canada and part from the southern part of the state. This pulp is manufactured into fine tissue paper, paper napkins, table-cloths, florist paper, fruit wrappers and many other kinds of paper products of the same nature.

The opening of the mill will provide employment to a large crew.

MILLION DOLLAR GAMES MARK GRID SEASON IN EAST

NEW YORK.—Million-dollar football games, two of them, will mark the climax Saturday of the eastern gridiron season. Money to be spent by the 75,000 persons expected to attend the Yale-Harvard event at New Haven and the 50,000 at the Army-Navy game at Philadelphia, is estimated at $2,000,000.

For tickets alone more than $600,000 will be spent. Car fare, meals, flowers, theater parties, clothes and other incidentals, will cost more than the tickets.

KNEESKERN IN PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL FOR MURDER OF COUPLE

DECATUR, Iowa.—Arguments on the motion for a new trial for B. F. Kneeskern, had owner and cattle buyer, convicted last spring of the murder of Isaac Van Brocklin, in connection with the slaying of Charles Van Brocklin and his wife in a little farm cabin near the town of Franklin last December, were heard in district court here Friday before Judge H. E. Taylor.

The arguments are expected to require at least another day or two.

D. D. Murphy of Elkader, chief of counsel for the defense, started the arguments. W. S. Hurd of Waukon, one of northeastern Iowa's most prominent criminal lawyers, has been added to the array of legal talent on the side of the defense. He will follow Mr. Murphy in arguing to the court when the latter concludes.

Attorney Murphy laid stress on the defense's claim that it was physically impossible for Elmer Van Brocklin, the state star witness, and himself once a suspect in the case, to use Kneeskern in the cabin door, as he testified in the trial of the case, from the place where he said he was standing at the time. He also objected to the jury's action in taking jurors and making measurements on a chart of the murder scene outside of the jury-room while the case was in its hands.

MICHIGAN GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES SENATE CHOICE NEXT WEEK

DETROIT, Mich.—Governor Greenback, returning to Detroit Friday from Lansing, planned to give further consideration to the appointment of a successor to Truman H. Newberry, who resigned as a junior senator from Michigan last Sunday. The governor expected to remain here over the week-end and has said he would announce the appointment Monday night or Tuesday morning. Although he declined to comment on the prospects of any of those mentioned, in connection with the appointment Governor Greenback admitted the field had narrowed down to three or four. "I cannot say who I will appoint because I don't know myself," he said.

The men thought to be receiving the most serious consideration are Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan; W. W. Porter, state fuel administrator; and Dr. David Friday, president of the Michigan Agricultural College.

ZILLAH ENTERTAINS AT THE TRIBUNE ON THURSDAY MORNING

Zillah, "The Girl with the X-ray Eyes," who has been entertaining and mystifying the audiences at the Rivoli theater since Wednesday night, will exhibit her mind-reading and mental telepathy, dropped in at the Tribune office just before noon Friday, and put on a little entertainment for the benefit of the force.

Zillah tells rapidly and accurately the answers to any question put her, reads the numbers on paper money without seeing them, and answers definitely questions concerning dates of birth and the like.

Resides her appearance on the stage at the Rivoli, Zillah may be found in the theater reception room any time between the matinee and evening performances, ready to answer, free of charge, any question anyone may wish to ask her.

Read should be repaired, said Mr. Dawson, in order to take care of the traffic.

Other appropriations were $1,500 for grading the Waukegan road, Iowa of Burns; $1,500 to repair County Trunk road G, part of which was washed out last spring; $2,000 for two bridges in town of Burlington; $1,500 for the salary of the janitors at the court house.

Supervisor Goodard offered a resolution on motion for wild animals, snakes, crows, and gophers which includes a bounty of $2 on foxes. It was adopted.

Thirteen thousand dollars was appropriated for the agricultural school, which is $2,000 more than appropriated last year. The larger amount is necessary this year, it was explained, because of the increase in enrollment, the need of employing an additional teacher, repairs to the greenhouse and other improvements needed.

SHEDS BURN; SHEEP TO BE SHIPPED TO PACKING PLANTS

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—The recent fire at the Spread Eagle sheep ranch near here, may give the Chicago packing houses a shipment of 1,000 sheep. Nougiers Brothers, owners of the ranch, declare. The sheep will either be sent to the Chicago Stock Yards or to the grazing lands of Utah, unless arrangements are hastily made for the caring of the animals, who are without comfortable buildings.

The fire, which destroyed the sheep sheds, is thought to be of incendiary origin by the managers of the ranch.

REJECT PROPOSAL TO DIVIDE NEAR EAST CONFERENCE

Problem of Status of Dardanelles to be Taken up by General Conference

LAUSANNE.—By The Associated Press.—The plan to hold two distinct conferences on the near eastern question, one for re-establishing peace between Turkey and Greece, and the second to fix the status of the straits of the Dardanelles, has been abandoned, it was stated Friday, and the problem of the straits has been merged into the general conference.

Both Turkey and Bulgaria made greater demands than had been anticipated at the meeting of the sub-commission appointed by the near east conference to study and report upon the question of the Thracian frontiers and a Bulgarian outlet to the Aegean sea.

In reference to the proposal for a demilitarized zone along the frontier between eastern and western Thrace, the spokesmen for Turkey demanded effective guarantees. They asked that these guarantees apply to the boundary between eastern Thrace and Bulgaria, which the latter country asks be militarized.

As such guarantees would mean a surer step toward an effective peace, according to the Turkish delegates, the powers will find difficulty in refusing them.

ILLINOIS OPERATORS ADVOCATE DISTRICT WAGE AGREEMENTS

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Illinois coal operators agreed to send their representatives into the joint meeting of delegates of the bituminous operators of the country and the miners on December 1, with instructions to urge the establishment of district wage agreements and should such proposals fail, to support some compromise based on the old central competitive field arrangement.

AMERICAN LEGION MUSICAL REVUE SUCCESS DECIDED SUCCESS

bill, pleasing the audience greatly with their harmony. Joe Shields, this time in blackface sang "I hate to go home alone." He was followed by Myron Locke who achieved his usual triumph with his offering, "Oh, Is She Dumb." A part of Mr. Locke's offering was his humorous slide dance.

Florenz Parsons again appeared as soloist in the song "Strut in at the Strutters Ball," and Mr. Marshall, in the last number rendered a delightful solo, "Are You Playing Fair?"

Though their part was not so prominent as is generally the case with musical acts, the end men of the Legion show did themselves proud. They had a chance to pull some of their funny gags between the songs in the Country Club number, and their humor was new and original. Miss Jarvis also appeared again in a dance, assisted by the Callaway orchestra.

For Benefit of Disabled

The show was put on by the Legion, not for the purpose of making money for their own use but for the benefit of worthy and disabled veterans of the world war. They have already done a good work in this line, and their money they made on the show will enable them to continue to do good.

Much of the credit for the success of the show is due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Frank Schwalbe, who spent most of her time during the last few weeks in the interests of the show. She not only played the piano for all of the rehearsals, but had a great part in securing the cast and in organizing the show itself.

The show will be repeated Friday night.

TAG DAY FOR STRIKERS

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Saturday is "tag day" for the benefit of the striking shopmen on the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Terminal railways, who have been out on strike eighteen weeks. The Superior Federated Shopcrafts strike committee in announcing the tag day made the following statement:

"These men have been out on strike for eighteen weeks now, nearly five months, for just and reasonable conditions and wages, and are asking the support of the people who are reasonable and believe in justice and are willing to study both sides of the case, to give all they can afford to a worthy cause."

HOPE OF NATON LIES IN SCHOOLS SAYS GANFIELD

MENOMINEE, Mich.—"Next to the mother the teacher is the greatest asset in the world," declared Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, Wauskeha, Wis., in an address before the Menominee Woman's club. "The hope of the world for the next fifty years is vested in the American school. As goes the American school, so goes the United States. As goes the United States, so goes the world."

Dr. Ganfield's treatment of the subject, "Bringing Up Mother," was an outgrowth of the replies he received to a questionnaire sent to one thousand boys and girls in Wauskeha, asking them as to the type of mother they preferred.

ROADS AND UNIONS HELD TO CONTRACTS IN BOARD RULING

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—The principle of collective bargaining will be upheld and both employers and railroads held strictly accountable for their contracts, was the attitude of the United States railroad labor board by denying a rehearing on a decision and another decision made public Friday.

WHISKEY DIET FAILS TO SATISFY YOUTH

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis.—Sheriff Walter Mueller of Wood county is in Kansas City, where he will be given custody of Clifford Wilson, 14, who is being held by the Kansas City authorities. Wilson is charged with the theft of a $10 gold watch and other valuables from his grandfather.

The youth gained nation-wide publicity when he ran away from his grandfather because, he said, "his grandfather gave him nothing but whiskey for dinner."

FEDERAL OFFICIALS DELAY DECISION ON PACKING MERGER

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Although the various interested agencies of the federal government have about completed their individual investigations into the proposed merger of the packing concerns of Armour and Morris, there were indications Friday that no final policy would be decided on until there had been a full exchange of opinion among high administration officials generally.

It was considered probable in some quarters that Friday's cabinet meeting might advance the question to ward the point of decision.

Whether the administration policy will be determined before Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, has an opportunity to call up his resolution asking for full information about the merger, is a question which is causing considerable speculation at the capitol. The Wisconsin senator has indicated that he probably will attempt to

POUR MOON INTO RIVER

WAUSAU, Wis.—Several hundred Wausau residents Friday watched local officers, assisted by state and federal prohibition enforcement agents, destroy thirty-six stills, pour several hundred gallons of moonshine into sewers. The moonshine equipment was seized by the agents in their raids, which they conducted in Marathon county during the past few months.

The stills were held as evidence by the court in the prosecution of a large number of cases here. The stills ranged in capacity from four to seventy-five gallons. The destruction was made under the order of Judge A. H. Reid, the cases being disposed of.

APOPLECTIC STROKE FATAL TO FORMER PREMIER OF ITALY

ROME.—By The Associated Press.—Italy mourned Friday the passing of Baron Sonnino, who was twice premier and her foreign minister during the world war. Death came Thursday night after an apoplectic stroke earlier in the day.

News that the Baron had been stricken came as a surprise, for only a few days ago he was seen on the streets, apparently in the best of health. Word of his illness brought anxious inquiries from many notables, including King Victor Emmanuel.

SALOONKEEPERS FINED

GREEN BAY, Wis.—According to Prohibition Officer Thomas, Martin, five saloonkeepers of Two Rivers, were given fines ranging from $100 to $250 Thursday in the Manitowish county court as a result of pleading guilty to charges preferred against them for selling illicit liquor. All fines were paid and the men released.

BETTER MARKETING DECLARED POSSIBLE UNDER PRESENT LAW

Marketing Act Held Sufficient to Bring About Waste Elimination and Efficiency

MADISON, Wis. —The present Wisconsin marketing law is sufficient to bring about possible improvements in the mechanism of marketing so far as it relates to the elimination of waste, inefficiency and unnecessary expenses of distribution, William Kirch, in charge of research for the department told the Wisconsin Progressive association legislative committee meeting here.

Mr. Kirch said that the activities of the department of markets in the field of grading, standardization, inspection and co-operative marketing have already given substantial results and have laid a foundation upon which by means of continued efforts, a better organization of marketing will eventually be built.

The speaker said, however, that the marketing problem is too complicated to be solved in a fundamental way by legislation that bears only on the deficiency of the mechanism of distribution. The general economic condition of the country largely influences the marketing of farm products and is intimately connected with the condition of farmers, he declared.

The rise in prices of commodities above the level of the consumer's purchasing power caused underconsumption and leaves an unobtainable quantity of farm products and manufactured articles on the market. Mr. Kirch continued. The maladjustment between prices and purchasing power is due, he said, to the fact that certain individuals are in a position to extract, through monopoly and speculation, more than their fair share of the surplus and the detriment of both producer and consumer.

BURGERS FOILED

MADISON, Wis. — Burglars made an unsuccessful attempt to break into the vault of the People's State bank here Wednesday night, and escaped without obtaining any funds. After blowing off the lock of two outer doors the men gave up their attempt to enter the front of the vault and drilled a hole through its side but gave up their task before breaking through.

FIGHTING WITH THEIR HEADS

The giraffe is generally regarded as a very peaceable animal and one not looking for anything of the nature of a physical encounter, principally for the reason that it is not supplied with any formidable means of offense or defense by nature, but it is a fact that these animals sometimes engage in serious encounters although they are not very thrilling from the standpoint of the spectator. As is well known, these animals are supplied with very long necks, and their heads are very hard. In an encounter they make use of this point, and some one asked Son if he

AMERICAN CHILDREN PROVIDE CHRISTMAS CHEER IN NEAR EAST

Over Hundred Thousand in Poverty-stricken Countries to be Cared for CHICAGO, Ill. —More than 115,000 children in Hungary, Austria, Albania and other countries where dire poverty prevails, the usual Christmas festivities will be remembered by American school boys and girls who are members of the Junior American Red Cross, local headquarters announced.

That number of gifts is being filled and will be sent to Europe in time to be distributed to the destitute children at Christmas. In many cases this will be their only Christmas cheer.

The boxes will contain such articles as hair ribbons, rubber balls, rag or celluloid dolls, marbles, tops, dominoes, picture books, puzzles, puzzles, mittens, stockings, handkerchiefs, combs, washcloths, soap, toothbrushes, tooth powder and paste.

These gifts, all contributed by children, will be packed in major cartons by four groups and on the top will be printed a Christmas greeting from the donors.

Many schools plan the collection of home-made mittens, hats, ribbons and other simple articles which will be wrapped in paper and packed in quarter-pound boxes of paper or cardboard lined with paper.

Immediately after the distribution of boxes for Christmas, letters of thanks and appreciation will be pouring into Red Cross headquarters in Paris, and many to boys and girls in America.

FAMILY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Nine hundred relatives attended the birthday party given by Mrs. Virginia Elizabeth Vail, on September 23, at her home in Winder, Ga., in celebration of her 100th anniversary.

They all stayed to dinner, and then all sat down at the table at the same time. This table, consisting of boards set on trestles, was 400 feet long. After dinner old-time Georgia musicians played fiddle, banjo, and mandolin.

Lines, and the party wound up with an old-fashioned cakewalk, at which everybody walked around a table staked hands with everybody else.

The party probably was the biggest birthday party ever given. Mrs. Vail is the mother of fourteen children, thirteen of whom lived to reach maturity, and five of whom are still living. She has sixty grand-children, 187 great-grandchildren, and seventy-six great-great-grandchildren.

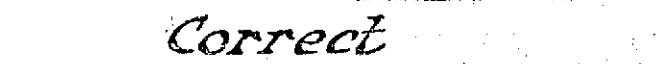

At her birthday party a photograph was made of her holding in her arms her youngest great-grandchild—Virginia Louise Allen, who is ten months old. The difference in age between these two was ninety-nine years and two months.

Mrs. Vail was married when she was fourteen, and was one of her five children. Her husband, who died when she was twenty, left her a small property. She has been married for over thirty years.

Blonds have to be more careful in their selections of millinery than brunets. It is very easy for them to achieve a flamboyant or "stagey" appearance.

For instance, let a decided blond put on a wide-brimmed, black velvet hat, trimmed with bright gold lace, and immediately she loses her charm. The gold of the hat competes with the gold of her hair, and both lose.

However, place upon her head a soft hat of mouse-colored plush, which brings out the beauty of her hair, and watch the transformation. The drooping feathers accentuate the fragility of her type and break the severe line.

HOUSING OF FARM IMPLEMENTS URGED IN RADIO MESSAGE

Farm Director Shows How Millions Can be Saved by Caring for Machinery

CHICAGO—Elimination of the greater part of a quarter billion dollar loss this winter by adequate housing of their agricultural implements was asked of farmers by Guy H. Hall, director of the National Institute of Progressive Farming, in a message sent out from radio stations.

Annual depreciation of machinery on farms, valued at about three and one-half billion dollars, is about eight per cent or $250,000, according to a survey made by the University of Minnesota, Mr. Hall said. Most of this is from rust, not calculating the indirect loss from machinery out of order at critical periods of the season.

"Winter, when farm equipment is most neglected, is again at hand and the institute wishes with all possible earnestness to urge farmers to do away with this terrible waste," said the message. "Ordinary care would save farmers $150,000, while scrap-

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no jamping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 percent air and 6 percent common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, C. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' free trial, or even to give one free to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

LONE VOICE LIFTED IN U. S. SENATE IN DEFENSE OF 'TIGER'

Utterances of Clemenceau Come in for Criticism in Senate Debate

STUDENTS WHOOP 'ER UP FOR CLEMENCEAU ON WAY TO BOSTON

Enthusiastic Greeting Accorded
Statesman by University Men

WASHINGTON, D. C.—M. Clemenceau's appeal to America to resume active participation in the affairs of Europe and assist France in the enforcement of the Versailles treaty appears to be doomed to failure in its effect upon the United States senate.

This was indicated in a spirited senate debate today, in which M. Clemenceau's utterances were criticized with a sharpness restrained previously only by the courtesy due the visiting statesman as the great war prisoner of the French nation.

Senator Borah (Idaho) leader of the opposition to the Versailles treaty, showed himself to be more irreconcilable than ever. He declared that the policies which Clemenceau wants the United States to aid in enforcing are leading not to peace and sound reconstruction but inevitably to another great world war.

Hitchcock Points to Perils
Senator Hitchcock (Neb.), leader of the Wilson forces during the fight for ratification of the Versailles treaty, declared that cooperation between the United States and France was out of the question as long as the present destructive French policy is pursued.

This policy, he declared, would surely lead to an uprising in Germany and might very easily drive the Germans into the arms of soviet Russia. He also again criticized the maintenance of black troops in the occupied German territory along the Rhine.

Other senators who participated in the discussion indicated their accord with Senators Borah and Hitchcock. Mr. Clemenceau's only defender was Senator Sterling (S. D.). He declared senators were misinterpreting Clemenceau's remarks; that the United States was under a deep debt of gratitude to the French nation, and that America ought to back up France in enforcing the terms of the Versailles treaty.

"Same War Spirit as in 1914"
Senator Borah declared that Clemenceau's charge that America had deserted its allies was "unfounded as it is unscrupulous." Enforcement of the Versailles treaty, he said, would mean "the utter destruction of Europe."

"Mr. Clemenceau advises us that we are upon the verge of another war," said Senator Borah. "I think we are. The outlook is rather discouraging. We are on the verge of another war by reason of the same policies which brought on the war of 1914, the same militaristic, imperialistic policies of the dominating powers, and unless those policies are radically changed, in my opinion, at no distant day the world or a large part of it, will be engaged in another great conflict."

"Indeed, we never have had peace."

War has continued practically from the signing of the armistice, and the conflict has been the result of the policies pursued by the dominant powers, and not by reason of any failure of the United States to remain in Europe.

Utterly Rejects "Tiger's" Theory
"So long as the Versailles treaty is the fundamental law of Europe just that long there will be misery, unrest, conflict, and bloodshed. I utterly disbelieve in M. Clemenceau's whole theory. I unhesitatingly reject the proposition that there is no means in this world by which to govern men except that of force. If the great powers of Europe will write a treaty under which Europe can live; if they will do justice to the subject peoples, abandon the principle of imperialism and announce a policy of justice toward other people, and bring their program to the American people they will find a sympathetic accord here."

"We are invited back, not to a new Europe, but to the old Europe, with its secret treaties, secret diplomacy, militarism, and imperialism. Humble as I am, and as little as I have to say, I venture to declare that the American people will reject it."

"What About Naval Holiday?"
Both Senator Borah and Senator Hitchcock deplored the fact that France had not ratified the naval reduction treaty negotiated at the Washington conference last winter. Senator Hitchcock charged that the black troops in the occupied territory held by the French were guilty of many outrages upon the German people, and that the failure to withdraw troops gave rise to the suspicion that the French were deliberately trying to goad the Germans into acts of violence to serve as a pretext for further occupation.

Senator Spencer (Mo.) denied that the black troops were Negro, explaining that they were largely Moroccan. BOSTON, Mass.—By The Associated Press—Georges Clemenceau, war premier of France, was up at dawn Friday, putting the finishing touches on the second formal address of his American tour, which he will deliver at 4 o'clock in Tremont temple.

Seated before his inevitable pot of cold tea, with his battered gray skull cap on at a rakish angle, he worked for more than an hour on his notes at a small table in the home of F. L. Higginson, Jr. What he does with the notes after he has prepared them, no one knows. He never refers to them when he is speaking, but he always makes them.

Refreshed by his night's sleep the Tiger appeared even more jubilant than he was Thursday over the reception given him by Boston and other cities between here and New York.

He declared that even if his mission of winning American hearts for France failed—which he was confident it would not, he always would treasure the memories of the welcome he had had on this "last mission of his life."

Wants to See Bunker Hill
There was nothing on the Tiger's program for the day except the speech. But what he would do no one in his party could say. He declared he had wanted to see Bunker Hill ever since his visit to America fifty-seven years ago and it was not improbable that he would summon Col. Bonsal, tour conductor, and demand to be taken there immediately. Fanciful ball, the "Cradle of Liberty" was another point he hoped to visit.

He has been invited to two football games on Saturday, the Brown-Dartmouth game at Cambridge and the Yale-Harvard game at New Haven. He wants to see both but it is uncertain whether he will be able to attend either.

The Tiger's interest in American universities, keen from the start, was greatly augmented when he saw and heard cheering sections from Yale and Brown in action as he passed through New Haven and Providence. "It makes me think of the old days when I was a schoolboy," he said.

Frogs are said to be charmed by music much the same as snakes.

JAPANESE UNIONS FAIL TO AGREE ON FEDERATION PLAN

Conference Called to Organize Central Body Breaks up in Fight

OSAKA, Japan.—An attempt to form a federation of the labor unions of Japan has ended in failure, owing to the inability of the socialists, who are in control of some of the unions, to agree with the regular unionists, who avoid politics. A conference called here ended in a row in which the police took a hand, eventually arresting a number of the socialists.

The Nippon Rodo Sodomei, the socialist wing, wanted a federation with central control while their opponents, the Kumiai Sodomei, wanted local autonomy. On the discussion of the final resolutions an outcry arose which threatened to develop into a free fight when the police intervened and were made the targets of bottles and stones, but soon got the upper hand, cleared the hall and took the ringleaders to jail, whence they later were released.

However, this fight between the two elements in the labor movement is said to be only one reason for the failure of the laborites to advance their cause. There has been in Japan for a great number of years an organization known as the Kokusui-kai, which in some respects might be likened to the fascisti of Italy. This society, which wields great power, is opposed to all revolutionary movements and is in the habit of taking "direct" action when called upon. It is backed by the great labor contractors, who supply labor in the bulk throughout the country. When a strike is called in a given industry, this organization often is asked to intervene in the interest of the prevailing order of things and usually it can induce the workers, by one means or another, to return to work. It is strongly opposed to labor unions and uses its influence to prevent them from gaining membership.

At a meeting of the Nippon Rodo Sodomei, after the failure to form a federation, a protest was entered against the outrages committed by the members of the Kokusui-kai upon members of the Sodomei, at a recent meeting held at Kyoto.

Another cause of the lack of strength of the unions at the present time is the business depression, many skilled workmen, especially those in the engineering trade at present being out of work.

SOME SIGNS OF THE TIMES

In the window of a wholesale silk house on Fourth avenue, New York, the windower sees this cheering sign: "We Always Buy Hand." This is probably short for "hand jobs."

Another sign, at a recent industrial show, read: "Guaranteed Eggs. These Eggs Are Laid by Happy, Healthy Hens."

A sign on the Bowery reads: "French Artist." It speaks volumes as to the popular impression that the French are up on art.

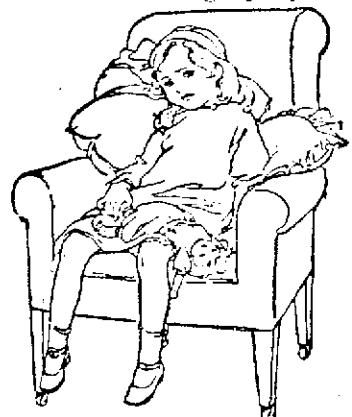

Another Bowery sign, perhaps suggested by "Frenchy's," is: "Shoey the Bootblack."

A Yiddish-English sign in Brooklyn reads as follows: "Our Motto: Quality, Timeliness, Quick Service."

The sign on the other side of the water, across the earth about 30 miles away, reads: "Mother!"

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with
"California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works, all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the system, little bowels, and give you a well-playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

RECOMMEND NEW SERIES OF LESSONS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL

Christian Conference Committee Holds International Series Unsatisfactory

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Holding that the international series of Sunday school lessons in Protestant churches of all denominations have not been satisfactory and that the elective method of study fails to give a connected knowledge of the Bible, the world's fundamental Christian conference committee has recommended that the international series be dropped and a new series adopted.

Action of the committee to create a new Sunday school Bible course, will have a nation-wide effect and will result in extended discussion throughout the world by those refusing and those who adopt the new study. It was said here by J. Frank Norris, chairman of the committee, upon conclusion of the work.

Agitation for the change was evident for several years past and at the last fundamental Christian convention in Los Angeles, which was made up of representatives from every Protestant denomination in the United States, Canada and eight foreign countries, the committee which recommended the important change was appointed to formulate a new series, according to Dr. Norris.

"It no doubt will provoke comment," Dr. Norris declared, "but the new lessons will teach a whole connected version of the Bible, not elective parts as heretofore, and the growing generations will not be satisfied with a partial, if not emasculated gospel."

The committee advises that beginning January 1 and through September, 1925, the studies be given in the Gospel and Epistles of John.

Naming several reasons for its action, the committee declared the prevailing methods of Bible study now in vogue are not satisfactory to the most effective Bible students of the world nor to the Sunday school public at large. "The elective method has too often resulted in unrelated lessons and consequently has failed to give a connected and comprehensive knowledge of the Word," the report reads.

"The greatest single reason, however, for this action," the report continues, "is the interest of truth as opposed to falsehood."

Nature's remedy for constipation will give you permanent relief!

Thousands upon thousands of people are today suffering from constipation in all its hideousness; few realize either the cause of their condition or what it will eventually lead to! Ask the average man or woman if they are constipated and they will answer "No!" This they firmly believe. But, the first thing the physician asks his patient is—"Let me see your tongue." If the tongue is coated he knows the patient is suffering from constipation!

A coated tongue, a bad breath—they are constipation signals! Start the use of nature's remedy—BRAN—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, as fast as you can! You must eliminate this dangerous condition because it goes from bad to worse! Toxic poison spreads through the whole system; organs become affected; the brain slows down. Any one of many serious diseases is likely to follow!

Fight constipation with Kellogg's Bran! For, Bran is nature's own sweeper, cleanser and purifier! It will correct the most chronic case of constipation if it is eaten regularly; it will prevent constipation if a little is eaten each day! For mild cases, two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, eat Bran with each meal. Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran for constipation!

Kellogg's Bran is fine for children, helping them grow big and robust.

Kellogg's Bran is deliciously good as a cereal, sprinkled over your favorite cereal, or used in baking and cooking. It makes wonderful pancakes, muffins, raisin bread, etc. See recipes on each package! Buy Kellogg's Bran at your grocer's.

THE FALL OF LLOYD GEORGE

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS

WASHINGTON. — Final returns from the British election confirm the first impressions that precisely as was the case of the American in our own Bryan campaign the English elector has not voted as he cheered. Despite the great crowds which attended his meetings and the vast applause which greeted his speeches Lloyd George has met a political disaster hardly paralleled in recent British history.

Lloyd George's whole claim upon his fellow countrymen and upon the Tory party, which supplied his majority with the larger share of the votes by which they held office was based upon the double assumption that he was the one statesman capable of ruling and the one politician able to combine from the several parties a sufficient number of votes to rule. Without his aid it was assumed the Tory party would be defeated at the polls, without the support of his personal followers of the liberal party, it would be a minority in any new house of commons.

But the election demonstrated that without the personality and popularity of Lloyd George the Tories could carry the country and that they had no need whatever of the vote of the Georgian liberals to command a majority in the new house of commons. Thus, while the followers of the ex-prime minister hoped and even believed that in the new house the coalition liberals led by George would hold the balance of power, the fact is that the Tories have a clear majority over all and the Georgian group are reduced to an insignificant minority faction of the third political party, measured by strength in the new house.

So much for the personal fortunes of Lloyd George. The Tory revolt forced him to fight unexpectedly and with all his forces down; in the fight the claims of the Tory rebels have been made good. The conservatives manifestly have not needed George to hold the country, the overthrow of Lloyd George has not cost the Tories control of parliament; on the contrary it has made them masters in their own house.

Even more humiliating for George is the fact that the liberal faction which follows Mr. Asquith has captured more seats than his own coalition group. This means that in any ultimate reunion of the liberal factions assuming such a reunion is possible, leadership will remain with Mr. Asquith. In other words Lloyd George has at one time lost control of the Tory party, which he dominated through the coalition ministry and of his own majority of which he has, indeed gone into the wilderness and the phrase which was mere rhetoric has become historically accurate.

Looking to the future, moreover, the chances of an earlier return of George to power seem slight. If labor has not made the showing its more enthusiastic followers promised it has not only doubled its membership in the house of commons, but it has also become the opposition party. It holds more seats than the combined factions of the liberals and it has consolidated its position as the radical party, or as they say in Europe, the party of the left.

Almost inevitably, then, there will be a drawing together both of conservatives and of the radicals in the new house. The more extreme radicals in the liberal factions will go over to labor, the more conservative will turn toward the Tories. In British politics it would seem that for the future the battle is to be between labor and non-labor, which amounts to a struggle between capital and labor. In such a struggle the liberal party can hardly continue as a middle of the road organization; rather it would seem doomed to dissolution.

Of course Lloyd George can now go over to labor but he would be compelled if he did this to become a soldier, not a general. No political party in Britain is so rigidly organized as labor. Moreover, it has its own leaders, who have no desire to give way to permit Lloyd George to head a party nor will they consent to make the labor party's principles and purposes subordinate to the personal political fortunes of the former prime minister. In other words labor might be willing to use Lloyd George, but it would desperately resist any attempt on his part to use it.

The real advantage which the Tory party has acquired by this election is the position as the bulwark of the country against labor. Austen Chamberlain and other coalition Tories argued that the unionist party alone could not check labor. The result proved that it can and now it is in the position of being able to compel anti-labor liberals to enlist with it rather than having to pay an exorbitant price for such aid.

Americans must watch the next few months and even years of British politics with intense interest for it is hard to believe that if labor is able to continue its political expansion, we shall escape some similar experience in this country. The development of the labor party has been rapid in Britain, but on the whole it has also been steady; it has thrown up very able leaders as it has progressed and it has now, as I have said, wrested from the liberals the second place in British politics.

But for the adoption of the extreme programme of a capital levy it is generally conceded that labor would have been far more successful this time and such a success might have forced the Tories to make terms with Lloyd George. But one must remember that labor leaders were not in the least desirous of obtaining power at this time and quite wisely hope to escape the responsibility of a cabinet for some years to come. They are looking to the training of their party in the opposition and actually dread being forced to take control now, lest failure due to inexperience might lead to a disaster which at the least would postpone their eventual supremacy.

Unless all signs fail the Tories have won a victory which will enable them to rule for a considerable period of time, for several years at the least. Instead of defections in the immediate future Mr. Bonar Law can look forward confidently to accessions. Few of the liberals of either the Asquith or George factions can desire to contribute to a labor triumph and Britain has now to choose between Tory and labor.

All things considered the fate of Mr. Wilson and M. Clemenceau has at last overtaken Mr. Lloyd George, his fall if long postponed has in the end been quite as complete. The single difference is that he is younger than Clemenceau and his health remains unshaken, where Mr. Wilson's has been fatally impaired, thus he still has a chance to come back, but nothing like the chance which most observers forecast. He is now a man without a party and his hope of creating a center party has wrecked completely. (Copyright, 1922, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Thanksgiving— And a Jersild Sweater!

THE cool crisp air of a perfect November day sweeps across the white-barred field. Twenty-two red-blooded giants are awaiting the signal that will send them into the battle for the glory of Alma Mater.

Stands are a riot of color. Rival bands play rival tunes; cheer leaders gyrate madly about directing the vocal activities of leather-lunged "rooters."

It is the day of days—the day of the Thanksgiving foot ball game.

What matters the chill that creeps over the field in the last minutes of play if you are wearing a Jersild Sweater. It clings snugly to you and its warmth enables you to "follow the ball" in genuine comfort.

Jersild Sweaters are pure wool. That means maximum warmth. And they are hand-tailored—which gives them the snap and dash that fits perfectly into a day when all the world is young.

Go to your dealer today and ask to see the wonderful assortment of Jersild Sweaters in pull-over and coat styles; also the famous line of Pinkerton Knitted Coats for men and boys.

Is 1923 To Be A "Hell-Raiser's Year"

"Discontent has swept the country"; there is a "restless searching of the electorate for some new way out of its troubles." "It will be a 'Hell-Raiser's Year.'"

In these words, independent Kansas City, Chicago, and New York editors in turn explain what happened on November 7th, and they express what seems to be the prevailing sentiment in second thought editorial interpretation of the election.

There is a very interesting news-feature in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, November 25th, which analyzes the cause for Republican defeat and what the Democrats really gained. "There has been a general smashing of pronounced reactionaries," gleefully reports a labor daily (Minnesota Star), while the Newark News remarks that the radicals bearing a party badge are in the ascendant, armed for assault for party control two years hence. If the forecast of conditions is accurate the programs of reactionary groups in Congress as shown in this article will be enlightening to the public at this time.

Other news-features in THE DIGEST this week which are unusually timely are:

GOPHERS ASSEMBLE A STRONGER CAGE QUINT THIS YEAR

Coach Cooke Has Two Veterans and Ample Substitutes to Draw From

NUMBER OF FOOTBALL MEN
CANDIDATES FOR THE TEAM

Play Three Preliminary Games
Before Opening Conference Tilt

MINNEAPOLIS. — By The Associated Press.—The University of Minnesota in all probability will assemble a stronger basketball combination this year than the team which last winter won the first five straight games, only to lose the last seven contests.

Two veterans of the varsity quint and five first team substitutes together with more than a dozen other candidates will give Dr. L. J. Cooke, basketball coach, ample material from which to draw for the latter part of November. Dr. Cooke said, because of the many men who are on the football squad, until then it is impossible to learn the capabilities of his men, the coach said today, but several of the individual players are rated as of fine basketball caliber.

Rude Hultkrans, captain and guard and Harold Severinsen, forward, members of last year's varsity five, will form the nucleus of Dr. Cooke's team, around which it is hoped to build up a strong Gopher basketball combination. Ray Ecklund, football luminary, is said to be good at the basketball game, and probably will be Severinsen's partner at the other forward. Kenny Schjoll, track and football varsity member, the strongest contender for center, having been the regular Gopher center two years ago, Louis Gross, also a football warrior, and a substitute guard last year, is believed to be in line for the remaining guard position.

Berglund, Sullivan, Sinclair, and Olson, other substitutes of last year, are on the basketball squad, as are Cox, Pesek and Becker, other candidates.

Minnesota will play three preliminary games prior to its first conference contest with Michigan on January 13.

FIRST METHODISTS GO INTO LEAD IN CHURCH LEAGUE

Winning two out of three from the Caledonia Street Methodists, while the first Presbyterian were idle, the first M. E. No. 1 went into the lead in the church athletic league Thursday night.

The Bethel Lutherans hit the type in the "Best Bowlers" all the way through, A. Mekvold, starting in the individual roll. They won three from the West Avenue church.

The Methodists No. 2 took three from the Baptists, the Congregationalists showing the same treatment to the English Lutherans.

BIG TEN TITLE HONORS REST WITH OUTCOME OF THREE BATTLES SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Ill.—Championship honors in the "Big Ten" conference Friday rested on the outcomes of three of Saturday's football games.

All conference eleven were slated for only short and light work, followed by a session at the blackboard.

While interest centered chiefly in the Chicago-Wisconsin, Iowa-Northwestern, and Michigan-Minnesota games, the Illinois-Ohio game promised to draw a record crowd as Saturday is "State" and "Kiwanis" day at the field.

The Badgers entrained Friday morning for Chicago and Friday afternoon were to take a light workout on Stagg field. The line-up for the game was still in doubt, with indications however, that one or two positions will be filled by substitutes.

Michigan arrived at Minneapolis Friday. A light workout was called for Friday afternoon.

JIMMY GILL LEAVES TUESDAY TO FIGHT "KID" WHELOCK

Battle Will be Staged at Lincoln, Nebraska, on December Tenth

Jimmy Gill, the La Crosse Speed Boy will leave here Tuesday to fight "Kid" Wheelock at Lincoln, Nebraska, it was announced today.

Some information regarding the caliber of Wheelock is revealed in the fact that while he was in the light-weight class he has fought and beat such fighters as Cal Delaney and Saul Friedman. Wheelock has now made the welterweight ring.

Gill will finish up his training in this city before leaving for Lincoln.

U. S. TO TAKE PART IN CONFERENCE OF CENTRAL AMERICANS

WASHINGTON.—By The Associated Press.—"Helpful participation" by the United States as a member of the conference of the Central American governments called to convene in Washington December 4, has been arranged for by the state department.

The delegates representing the United States will be Secretary Hughes and Sumner Wells, former chief of the Latin-American section of the state department.

PLAN EXTENSION NEXT SEASON OF CENTRAL LEAGUE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Plans are being considered for the extension next year of the Central Baseball league. B. W. Dickerson, president, announced Friday. Several cities in Ohio and Indiana are to be added to the circuit he said.

President Dickerson denied reports that the league which operated as a purely Michigan circuit the past season had had an unsuccessful year. The majority of the Michigan cities now in the circuit will seek franchises next year, the president said.

ROTH-WITTENBERG WIN CUE TOURNAY CONTESTS OF WEEK

The Roth and Wittenberg rooms won games in the city cue tourney played Wednesday and Thursday nights. Armstrong defeated Kraft, 75 to 41, and Gibson defeating Safford, 75 to 58.

The game scheduled for Friday night between Sheldon and Roth has been postponed for a week because of Armstrong's participation in the American Legion show.

LONDON.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, accompanied by the Governor of the Bank of England, will start on December 28 for the United States on his debt funding mission, it was announced.

SPECIAL TRAINS TO ROCKFORD FOR TITLE GRID GAME

Beloit and Ripon Fight for Supremacy on Gridiron Between Colleges

BELOIT, Wis.—Rockford, Beloit and Ripon grid fans will throng the old Three-eye field at Rockford Saturday to watch the first collegiate football exhibition staged here in seventeen years when Ripon and Beloit colleges mix up a struggle for the state title. Beloit defending her share of first conference honors by virtue of the scoreless tie registered against Lawrence.

Ripon's Crimson and White squad arrives at Rockford Friday for a final drill before the fray, while Beloit gridgers are receiving the finishing touches from Coach Tommy Mills on their home field. Special trains will be run from both college camps returning after the evening's celebration.

The Rockford Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the contest and a civic celebration including a banquet, street fete and a dance will follow the game.

Coach Tommy Mills of Beloit then captain lined up against Knox in the last college match staged at Rockford in 1904.

GEORGES UNABLE TO RESUME TRAINING; MAY FIGHT BECKETT

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—Georges Carpentier still suffering from bad hands, is unable to resume training but there is much talk in sporting circles of a match between Georges and Joe Beckett, of England, as well as a deal of speculation as to whether Carpentier will enter the competition officially opened by the boxing federation for the light heavyweight title made vacant by the disqualification of "Battling" Siki, conqueror of Carpentier.

ADVANCE SALE TICKET HOLDERS PROTECTED BY DELAYED SALE AT GATE

375 PASTEBOARDS ALREADY SOLD FOR TURKEY DAY GAME

Expect Big Sale Returns by Saturday Night Committee Announces

THAT approximately 375 tickets have been sold in the advance seat sale for the Superior-La Crosse titlul contest on Thanksgiving day was the announcement of Faculty Manager Scott at the high school after a canvass of ticket sale holders on Friday.

While this number was actually sold, it was said that large numbers have promised to take tickets before the day of the game. It was predicted that by the end of the week, again as many pasteboards will have found their way to fans planning on witnessing the battle.

For the protection of those purchasing tickets in the advance sale, and to insure them against the possibility of having to stand or witness the game from remote corners of the field, the athletic council has decided to delay opening of the ticket office at the field until 30 minutes before the game. Holders of advance tickets will be given the right of way over late purchasers through this system to seats in the stands.

The system will work out in a measure the same as a reserved seat sale. Holders of tickets before the day of the game will spare themselves of forming in the huge line which is bound to result for those making a last minute bid for seats.

CHARACTER THE BEST COLLATERAL SAYS SOL LEVITAN

State Treasurer-elect in Advisory Talk to Young Men of Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis.—Character is the best collateral any young man can have, and with character backed by initiative and willingness to work he can accomplish almost anything he sets out to do. Solomon Levitan, state treasurer-elect and president of the Commercial National bank, said in a talk here Friday.

The newly elected state treasurer took occasion to give advice to the youth of the state, saying that as an employer he was in a position to tell the demands that are made on those entering business.

"The duty of all young men is to make the most of their youth that they may better meet the responsibilities of the later years," Mr. Levitan declared. "Youth is handicapped by inexperience. It has not the background of mature years to fall back upon in making decisions, and needs to be on the alert to grasp opportunities."

"A good tip from the start is to win the confidence of your employer. Don't be a clock watcher and the employer will soon recognize the man or woman who does the work."

Mr. Levitan urged that young men desiring advancement should be careful of the company they keep, urging that the wastes be avoided. He said that each young man should make up his mind what he wants and keep trying until he gets it.

INSURANCE HEARING RESUMED ON MONDAY ANNOUNCES WHITMAN

MADISON, Wis.—The insurance hearing involving a reduction of 25 percent in the insurance rates of the cities of the state will be resumed before Insurance Commissioner Platt Whitman on Monday. This hearing is a continuation of the hearing started nearly a month ago involving a book of rules, which will control the practice and rates of all insurance agents and companies operating in the state.

The rules were submitted by the insurance companies. Many of the rules were approved by the commissioner, but it was thought that some of the rules were not liberal enough to the agents and policy holders. These rules in question were rejected by the department and substitutes have been offered, including a reduction of 10 percent in the rates of the cities of 25 percent.

The hearing on Monday will reveal the views of agents and insured. It is expected that a number of representatives of departments of commerce will appear to give evidence and ask for a liberalization in the rules.

URGE NAMING OF HOUSE MEMBER AS MICHIGAN SENATOR

WASHINGTON—Governor Greenback of Michigan was requested in a telegram on Thursday by a republican and democratic member of the house appropriation committee to consider the availability of Representative Kelly of that state for appointment as senator to succeed Truman H. Newberry. The message called attention to Mr. Kelly's services in the committee, particularly in framing recent bills.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has not failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you remove it easily. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary household soap from any drug store. This is all you will need. Apply it at night when retiring, so enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely remove every single flake and trace of it. In a fortnight you will find that you have no more dandruff. You will find, too, all itching and itching of the scalp will stop. Itchiness and your hair will be healthy, glossy, clean and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

BOARD TO RESUME BUDGET HEARINGS ON NOVEMBER 27

Blaine Calls Executive Session to Decide on Recommendations to Legislature

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine Friday called the state board of public affairs to meet here Monday, November 27, to continue its hearing on departmental budget requests, and to go into executive session for a determination of its recommendations to the legislature on the various requests for appropriations.

J. B. Borden, secretary of the board, said that all requests of state institutions and departments for appropriations would be heard on Monday and Tuesday morning. The board then going into executive session to decide upon its attitude toward the large increases asked by the budgets submitted. The total state budget now before the board amounts to approximately $33,000,000, while the last legislature authorized expenditures for the present biennial period of but $44,000,000.

Governor Blaine will be called upon to decide whether increases are to be recommended for state departments in the board report to the coming session of the legislature. Some of the requested large increases are expected by board members to be pared down before going to the legislature with the sanction of the board of public affairs.

Speaks Highly of This Home Made Cough Remedy

Says It Acts With Unusual Speed—Loosens the Mucus—Relieves the Irritation and Stops the Cough

Costs Next to Nothing—for a Big Supply

Whenever anyone in my family catches cold and begins to cough and sneeze, and haw and breathe heavily, it doesn't take me many minutes to fix up a remedy that will drive away all such troubles in double quick time. It's no secret anyone can make a half pint of the finest cough medicine in the world for a trifling sum.

Get from any druggist one ounce of barium (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one-half pint—bottle all there is to it.

But now you've got a real medicine—and you can use it right away. It acts directly on the membrane of the throat and nose, the itching causes almost instantly—any inflammation begins to disappear. It cures the stubborn mucus and of it in 24 hours every trace of the cough that frightened you is gone.

It's really remarkable how this home made remedy acts on the mucus membrane and that in one glass it is so helpful to thousands of cough sufferers.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

HEAD OF CHICAGO PUBLISHERS DIES THURSDAY NIGHT

Henry N. Cary, Prominent in Nation as Journalist, Taken by Pneumonia

CHICAGO, Ill.—Arrangements for the funeral of Henry N. Cary, general manager of the Chicago News-Paper Publishers' association, who died Thursday night, were being made Friday. Death was caused by pneumonia after an illness of three weeks. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Cary was born in Racine, Wis., in 1858. Soon after graduating from the public schools at La Crosse, Kansas, he began his journalistic trade as a printer of the Journal. Some years later he moved to Milwaukee, where he became a reporter on the Sentinel, finally being advanced to the position of managing editor.

In 1889 he became managing editor of the Chicago Times. Later he became western manager of the New York Associated Press, managing editor of the New York Times, editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, publisher of the Verdict, New York, managing editor of the New York Morning Telegraph, general manager of the Detroit Free Press, and general manager of the St. Louis Republic. He was known throughout the country by many newspapermen. He is survived by a widow and two children.

STILLMAN LOSES AGAIN

NEW YORK—James A. Stillman, New York banker, Friday failed in his effort to have the appellate division of the supreme court set aside confirmation of the referee's report in his divorce case which refused his petition and upheld the legitimacy of Baby Guy.

Let Mary Have Her Little Lamb---What You Want For Thanksgiving Is Turkey!

Some stores think it is bad business to load up with stock for Thanksgiving—but we find that big business like big fish, never swims in narrow streams. That's why this week we made our plans to have so many more selections that you'll walk in here—even though you have to pass up a dozen other stores to get here.

Enough goods to bring you in—and enough money's worth in satisfaction to bring you back.

SOUTH INTERESTED IN PLAN FOR THIRD PARTY SAYS BLAINE

Gave no Political Interviews on Trip Says Governor on Return to Madison

MADISON, Wis.—"One question was invariably asked by the newspapermen of the south, on my trip," said Governor Blaine, on Friday. "They wanted to know what the prospects of a third party were and whether Senator La Follette might be the leader." The governor said that on his trip he gave no political interviews, as he was out to advertise the products of Wisconsin. He said that it was apparent, however, that the south was greatly interested in political questions. Governor Blaine delved into work at the executive office and is clearing up the correspondence that has accumulated during his absence. He is gathering the data for his message and will begin the outlining of it within a week.

"A TAILOR MADE MAN"

HAS A LOT OF TROUBLES.
In Charles Ray's latest screen triumph, "A Tailor Made Man," now being shown at the Rivoli Theater, this ever popular star has troubles all his own. He is obliged in the first place, to withstand the attentions of four unusually beautiful, leading women; had to wear the baseness of immaculate evening clothes; and a gorgeous fur-lined and fur-collared overcoat; attend high brow social functions where he is served with delicious cooling drinks. And he manages to live through it all and give a remarkably pleasing characterization of the dreaming youth with an idea and the practical brain to pull the idea over successfully.

"CARDIGAN," CALLED THE GREAT AMERICAN PICTURE.
Perhaps the American motion picture has never been made which will uplift the industry to such an extent as "Cardigan." Messmore Kendell's production of Robert W. Chambers' historical novel, which tells a romantic story of an incident which became involved in the Revolution and subsequently played such an important part in the history of the United States.

In these days when leading citizens are crying for the need of better film; and when censorship and reformers are constantly furthering the cause to keep the motion picture screen clean, it is a pleasure for the American Releasing Corporation to distribute a picture which can be shown to every man, woman and child in a town or a community with safe assurance that it will not offend even the most critical. It is at the Casino today.

HARDING DAVIS TALK

SCENES ON SCREEN.
Last night at the Majestic Theatre, began a three days run of "The Men of Zanzibar," based on Richard Harding Davis' story of the same name. It is a Fox production starring William Russell. This is a film far above the ordinary in entertainment value, and should play to a large patronage. The story is gripping the direction of high caliber, the whole cast excellent, and the settings reflect accurately the atmosphere of the African East Coast where the action takes place. Zanzibar, chief seaport of East Africa, peopled by men of every color and race, is the background for a dramatic film creation that carries with it a mystery to be solved, and ends with a strong climax to a romance of distinct appeal.

The scenes are of Africa, and "The Men of Zanzibar" was made with more regard for realism than for its producing cost. That is the secret of good pictures—care in giving correct details.

AT THE RIVIERA.
Marjorie Daw, Tully Marshall, Pat O'Malley and Noah Beery head the all star cast appearing in "The Lying Truth," the attraction at the Riviera theatre today.

In writing and filming this powerful human appeal against circumstance, the experience, Marion Fairfax has built a story that will stand on a class by itself.

A newspaper story is always a powerful story and the manner in which Bill O'Hara conceives and executes a tale murder in "The Lying Truth" is further proof of Marion Fairfax's ability to keep human appeal in her writings.

"MAN'S LAW AND GOD'S"

SCENICALLY ENCHANTING.
Not shooting the scenes in foothills near the studio as a matter of convenience, but in the actual region in which the story is laid, has been responsible for making "Man's Law and God's," starring Jack Livingston and Ethel Shannon, which is now being presented at Strand Theatre, scenically one of the most enchanting pictures which ever graced the silver sheet. The scenes are laid in the Canadian Rockies, and there the picture was photographed. The grandeur and sublimity of this page is unequalled on the American continent. The telling of such a story in

COLLINS TO ATTEND TRAVELERS' BOOSTER MEETING AT SUPERIOR

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Final arrangements are being made by the local officers of the United Commercial Travelers for the largest booster meeting and initiation ever attempted by the Superior council, Saturday evening, November 25, at the Odd Fellows' temple.

The grand officers of Wisconsin will be in attendance, as the honor guests. They include Fred L. Wright, Milwaukee, supreme judge; C. H. Collins, La Crosse, grand counselor; J. T. Dolan, city, grand junior counselor, and L. G. Everson, Milwaukee, grand secretary.

Upon arriving in Superior Saturday morning, the officers will proceed to Ashland where they will attend a booster meeting in the afternoon, returning here early in the evening. A large number of the Ashland council members will accompany the honor guests here to take part in the initiation, these in charge say.

MAINE COMPANY IN LAST COMEDY AT THE MAJESTIC

"Too Many Husbands" Closes Four Weeks' Run of Musical Stock Co.

You have only one more chance to see Billy Maine and his comedians at the Majestic theatre because this company which has made itself so popular with La Crosse people, is closing its La Crosse engagement this week. Their farewell bill is "Too Many Husbands," another of the wholesome comedies for which this company has established a reputation that this city will not soon forget.

"Too Many Husbands" is a matrimonial mixup which keeps the audience laughing and clapping from start to finish. Rudy Wintner, as Patsy, the bell boy, makes the most of the funny situations all through the play. Marie Maine plays the part of Mrs. Stamps, whose husband, General Stamps, played by Billy

WETS ENCOURAGED BY RESULTS OF LATEST ELECTION

May Ask Present Congress to Vote on Modification of Volstead Act

WET MEMBER REPLACES VOLSTEAD AS CHAIRMAN

Wets Predict Many Will Switch to Liquor Side

WASHINGTON.—Four per cent beer.

Light wines of from 12 to 20 per cent alcoholic content.

These are the demands now to be made of Congress by organized "wets" as a result of increased favor for modification of the Volstead law registered by voters in the recent congressional election.

Although "light wines" are always mentioned in all modification proposals, the one thing the wets have closed to their hearts and thoughts, however, is—beer. It springs from a belief that the expectation and demand of the rank and file who marked wet ballots on November 7 was for beer.

Whether an effort will be made to obtain modification at the hands of the present Congress will be determined at a meeting of officials of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment late this month.

Some members believe it would be "good politics" to give the present Congress a chance to act on modification in the light of popular will as expressed at the congressional election. Others feel this would be unwise, as they doubt that defeated "dry" members will feel any more kindly toward the measure, however much they might like an opportunity to drown their sorrows.

With the organization of the new Congress in March, however, the fight to overthrow and "liberalize" the prohibition enforcement act will get under way immediately.

Volstead Defeat Wet Victory

The defeat of Andrew J. Volstead, father of the present enforcement act, is the biggest single aid to the wet program. Although Volstead's successor is dry himself, Volstead's defeat removes him from the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee and puts in his place Congressman George S. Graham of Pennsylvania, a wet.

This means that instead of proposals to modify prohibition being buried in committee, the measure will be heard and reported to the House for action.

Gov. Edward I. Edwards, newly elected senator from New Jersey, is expected to jump into the forefront of the fight in the Senate. As an experienced aid and a counselor wise in senatorial maneuvering, Jim Reed of Missouri, is counted on to be his chief assistant.

In the House, Gallivan of Massachusetts, Hill of Maryland, Tinkham of Massachusetts, McLeod of Michigan and Sabath of Illinois are looked to as probable leaders.

Want Whole Amendment Killed

It doesn't really make any great difference whether the present Congress or the newly elected one passes a modification act," says G. V. Hineley, head of the Association Against Prohibition Amendment, who has directed the association's congressional drive. "What we are out to get, of course, is the repeal of the whole prohibition proposition."

The results in the congressional election show the way the popular wind is blowing. Congress ought to be able to read the signs. If there is no modification, following the expression of the voters at this election, you may depend on it the voters will speak still more emphatically when they cast their votes two years from now—in 1924.

"Look out for a lot of the fellows who have been on the fence to fall off on the wet side."

For years, members of Congress in close districts have been terrorized by the Anti-Slavery League. They realized that unless they walked the dry chalk line the league could go into their districts and defeat them. There was no organization which could effectively combat the league in its drives to "wet" congressmen in close districts.

"As a result, these members have evaded votes whenever possible, or have reluctantly voted with the dries. That was demonstrated in the vote by which the Volstead act was passed over President Wilson's veto. Almost one-half the members in each house failed to vote. The bill was made law by the votes of an actual minority."

"We believe, however, that this association has now demonstrated that it can fight the league in its own field. As a result, these hidden votes will now—in large part—come out in the open. With the avowed wet votes, we believe there will be more than enough of these to modify the present prohibition act."

OVER QUARTER OF MILLION FOREIGN CITIZENS ON RHINE

Statistics Show Huge Foreign Population Living in German Territory

BERLIN.—Statistics compiled during the past summer show that there is a total of 150,000 foreigners living in the occupied territory on the Rhine belonging to Prussia, and in addition to this number approximately 90,000 troops and 4,000 foreign civilians attached to the forces of occupation. These figures, however, cover only about one-half of the whole occupied area, and do not include certain sections belonging to the Palatinate, Hesse and Baden.

Dutch nationals lead with 58,583 persons. They are followed by the Czechs with 13,424, then the Belgians with 6,279, and the Italians, the French and the Norwegians with between 4,500 and 4,900 each. The number of resident Americans is not given.
